Foreword

This is my first Iris list. I have been hybridizing for twenty years, especially for Fall Bloomers. Autumn Elf was my first introduction and has bloomed from July to November as well as in June for me. I have some nice Summer and Fall blooming iris to offer, some of my own introductions and others from hybridizers that I think are the best.

I live at Barre, Massachusetts from November to April and at Westport, Massachusetts from May to November and have most of my Iris at Westport now. My garden is six miles south of Route 6 to Cape Cod on the main road to Westport Point, two miles from Horseneck Beach, one of the best beaches and worth seeing. I have an Iris sign beside the road and will be pleased to see anyone any time.

During the Summer, last year, June 10th was the peak of spring bloom and I had Summer and Fall bloom from July 10th to November 1st when frost killed the flowers. Peak Fall bloom is October 10th.

I have a hundred or more good kinds of Iris and sell many I don't list at reasonable prices. I have 2000 seedlings, half of which should bloom in June and will sell some of these. I also have summer and fall bearing strawberries and raspberries for sale. It will pay you to stop on your way to Cape Cod this summer.

FALL AND SUMMER BLOOMING IRIS

Introducing OCTOBER SHADOWS—Lavender center line, S-pale lavender, F-deeper blend lavender and brown. Substance good. S-closed, F-flaring, stalk 38 inches, 5 branches, 12-14 buds. Every sizable rhizome blooms. Price $5.00—Grows like a weed. Bloomed from July 13th until November 1st last year when frost finished the bloom. Sets seed freely and pollen is good. Has a marked sweet fragrance; medium sized flower—my best seedling to date.

My other SUMMER BLOOMERS:
